

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present disclosure provides for forwarding instant messages from one communication device to another communication device. In some embodiments, when an instant messaging (IM) message is received at one communication device, that IM

5 message is conveyed to another communication device.